ITAWAMBA COMMUNITY COLLEGE

September 17, 2018

niche.com ranks ICC #1 in state

Itawamba Community College has been ranked the #1 Best Community College in Mississippi by niche.com for 2018.

The Niche 2018 College Rankings are based on rigorous analysis of academic, admissions, financial and student life data from the United States Department of Education along with millions of reviews from students and alumni.

According to its website, more than half of all college-bound high school students use Niche to research colleges. It indicates that its rankings strive to reflect the entire college experience, from freshman year to life after college. In addition, in-depth profiles on each college are included.

"Itawamba Community College's selection as #1 Best Community College in Mississippi is indicative of its success, its status as a premier community college in the state and beyond and a testament to an exceptional faculty and staff," said ICC President Dr. Jay Allen.

Niche.com also ranked ICC as #24 of 851 Best Community Colleges in America.

Homecoming Week activities

ICC students at all locations - Fulton, Tupelo and Belden - will have an opportunity to get involved in special activities during Homecoming Week. - Read more about them on page four.

ICC's PTK members who have been selected as 2018 Coca-Cola Leaders of Promise Scholars include from left, Kelsey Wade, Makaela Dickerson, Jacie Rinehart and Julie Lyles.

Achievement

Four ICC PTK members named Coca-Cola Leaders of Promise Scholars

Staff Reports

Four ICC students are among 207 Phi Theta Kappa members named 2018 Coca-Cola Leaders of Promise Scholars and will receive a $1,000 scholarship.

They include Kelsey Wade of Caledonia, Jacie Rinehart of Saltillo, Makaela Dickerson of Smithville and Julie Lyles of Tupelo.

At ICC, Wade is a member of the Baptist Student Union. She attends New Salem Baptist Church. After ICC, Wade plans to transfer to Mississippi State University where she will pursue the master's degree in nutrition and dietetics and become a registered dietician.

Rinehart is studying occupational therapy at ICC where she serves as PTK officer of projects. She is also a member of the Choir and Science Club. Rinehart plans to transfer to Mississippi State University to continue work toward her bachelor's degree in kinesiology and subsequently earn her doctorate of occupational therapy degree from the University of Mississippi Medical Center.

Dickerson's activities at ICC include Indian Delegation, PTK Upsilon Sigma president and Communications Chiefs. She also serves as the Mississippi/Louisiana regional reporter for PTK. Dickerson teaches kindergarten and participates in activities at the Amory Church of Christ. A public relations major, Dickerson will transfer to Mississippi State University to pursue both bachelor's and master's degrees.

Lyles, who is vice president of leadership for PTK, is in the Honors Program at ICC. A medical technology major, she hopes to be a pediatrician and own a clinic.

The Coca-Cola Leaders of Promise Scholars are selected based on scholastic achievement, community service and leadership potential.

More than 1,200 applications were received.

Homecoming Petitions now ready

CLARK OWEN
Staff Writer

Beginning today, female students who are interested in running for a spot on the Homecoming Court can pick up petitions.

They are available in the Dean of Students office in the David C. Cole Student Services Building on the Fulton Campus and in the Student Affairs office in the Student Support Center at the Tupelo Campus.

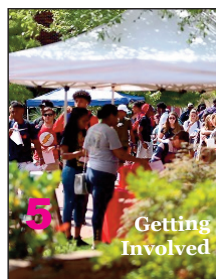

Petitions must be signed by 15 students. Candidates must not be on academic nor disciplinary probation.

Freshman maids will be elected in online balloting by members of the freshman class. Sophomore maids will be elected by their class as well. The top three sophomore maid vote recipients on the Fulton Campus will be in a run-off for queen. The candidate with the most votes will be elected queen, and the other two will be Fulton Campus sophomore maids.

Petitions are due back to the pick-up location by 4:30 p.m., Sept. 21. Campaigning is set for Sept. 25-28. Voting will be Oct. 2 and 3, and the runoffs, Oct. 4 and 5.

For more information, contact Andrea Senter at the Fulton Campus at (662) 862-8233 or Cynthia Adams at the Tupelo Campus, who will also be the contact for Belden Center candidates, at (662) 620-5305.

SGA: Your organization

This year's Student Government Association's nature and purpose have been redefined.

With the introduction of Jake Hartfield as the new coordinator of student activities for all ICC locations, the SGA is free to focus more on student needs and requests; however, this year's organization still hopes to work in tandem with Mr. Hartfield's newly-organized department to provide events that are interesting and fun.

Currently, the SGA is in the process of creating an email server that students can utilize to share suggestions.

The SGA will now focus more on listening to the needs of ICC's students.

Our group has met with numerous individuals regarding campus rules, regulations and policies.

The SGA's current goal is that the SGA email address allows a new avenue of communication that makes it easy for SGA to directly interact with all students. Before the creation of the email address, communication was extremely difficult.

As earlier mentioned, the SGAs at both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses are still focused on student activities. Instead of planning, we can utilize our time and resources to assist Mr. Hartfield with implementation and encouraging all students to participate.

This year, we hope to continue Indians Got Talent for its second season. Last year's show was extremely successful, and we hope for the same outcome this year. However, in order for events, any events, to be successful, participation is vital. In the case of Indians Got Talent, there must be performers and an audience to enjoy the show.

The idea of a formal has also been suggested. There were successful formals in the past, and so the Fulton Campus SGA is evaluating the interest and feasibility of reintroducing such an event.

As integral members of the college community, students through ICC's SGAs participate in the College's decision-making process. They are charged with discussing issues of importance to students and make recommendations to the College's administration for incorporation into College planning.

In essence, the Student Government Association is your voice. We can't express your wishes and desires if we don't know what they are.

We hope that you will utilize ICC's Student Government email address to provide feedback and suggestions. The addresses are iccsafulton@iccms.edu and iccsगतupelo@iccms.edu.

We can all do a better job...together!

What happened to summer?

Waking up one morning during the summer, you do your morning routine and everything as normal.

And then...You go to Walmart.

Once you're there, the first thing you see is a BIG sign saying, "Back to School," in BIG bold letters. Seeing that sign just messes up your whole day.

You finally realize that SCHOOL is just around the corner.

Seeing all of the Back-to-School signs, posters and especially the annoying commercials made me sad. I always hated seeing "back to school stuff" because I knew that summer was coming to an end. No more waking up when I wanted to, no more vacations, no more staying out late, no more of anything.

Now, it's here...and it has been for more than a month. As I bought dorm supplies and just regular school supplies, I counted the days. I didn't want to start the fall semester, but just like in high school, staying at home wasn't an option. My mother wouldn't let me.

As the fall semester approached, I started treating my vacation days with more respect. I didn't waste them by sitting home all day. I used the 24 hours in each day to have all the fun I could. I spent time with my girlfriend because now that we're back in school, I can only see her three days a week.

And...then...I woke up one morning in my residence hall. It's Monday, and I realized...I have CLASS today. Maybe it's just a dream, but no, it was August, and I was in Fulton.

I have a CLASS at EIGHT O'CLOCK THIS MORNING. I wished that I were dreaming, but that was not to be. Why, oh, why did I schedule a class at what appears to be the middle of the night?

I have to get up every morning and go to class. No more sleeping all through the morning and waking up at noon.

Time for my sophomore year...wait, what? My SOPHOMORE YEAR? How did this happen?

It's time for me to hit the books and make good grades so that I can graduate in the spring and transfer. For some students, it's the road to starting a career and for the freshmen, it's building an exceptional foundation for their sophomore year.

Whatever the case, it's September, and we're here at Itawamba Community College. No more sleeping late. No more summer.

It's time to embrace our opportunities at ICC. Join clubs and organizations. Participate in student engagement events. We must make the most of each day, because like summer, they are too short.

Before we know it, summer will come around again, and we can sleep late and do the things of summer. But for now, enjoy ICC, each day at a time.

POSITIVES OF TEACHING: "You get to know the students. At first it is kind of overwhelming because the first day in the classroom you have classes of 36 and 37 students. It is a lot to remember faces with names, that is why I always try to identify something with each student. It is so much fun to see pictures on the Facebook page or Instagram, and I'm like, 'Oh, I know her!' When students are in the band, and I get to see the band marching down, I'm like 'ah!' It's fun to get to know them that way and that is definitely one of the positives. Then too, seeing how they progress and how they move on once a student has graduated. I have a student right now who is on the police force in Amory. He worked really hard, and I'm super proud of him. You get to see people succeed, and that is a positive thing. Though success may not be making straight A's in class, it's just seeing people learn and move forward toward the goal of 'what is it that I want to be when I grow up?' - just to get to be a part of that. It can be very frustrating at times, but that's life. I think that is one of the biggest positives to just kind of sit back and watch."

NEGATIVES OF TEACHING: "You know, there is always going to be some bureaucracy that goes with everything, and you have to deal with some not-so-fun things such as discipline. For me, I'm from a world that tells you 'here's your deadline and this is what you have to have in.' No discussion. If you don't do it, you lose your case, you get fired, and your boss loses a client. Sometimes I have to realize that it isn't that easy. I use the term 'life doesn't stop just because you're in school.' Sometimes that is a negative aspect for me. I have to step back for just a minute and remember everything is not just (perfect) - life is not going to go that way. While trying to follow the rules and the policies, sometimes there are things that you can't help. You can't be the solution for a situation, and sometimes that makes you kind of sad. Or maybe you can't succeed, and it's best to part ways; it's a negative, but that's life. Then, too, not getting to hang around and talk all the time: I could spend the whole class period just talking and seeing what everybody is doing, but you know we do have to learn and we do have learning outcomes we do have to cover."

ADVICE TO STUDENTS: "First, try to enjoy the moment as much as you can. I always say 'enjoy your youth' because it does go really fast. Just soak up as much as you can of every experience that you can even if it's just the student activities we have. Get to know other people. Get with a study group. Ask questions. Don't be afraid to do that...Take advantage of the resources because we have wonderful resources here at ICC. Just find that instructor or friend that you can make a connection with. Just participate, like in the Sorcerer's Apprentice. There are a lot of people who work really hard to try and provide as much help and as much support as we can. Don't second guess yourself. You can do it if you set your mind to it."

President's Tailgate

Invited guests celebrated the home opener of ICC's football season with the annual President's Tailgate, Sept. 6, in front of the Davis Event Center. The ICC Alumni Association/Foundation sponsored the dinner.

Changing majors not a difficult process

HANNAH FLAKE

Staff Writer

Choosing a major is a difficult situation for most students, but changing majors is a common occurrence once enrolled in college.

Luckily changing a major is not as difficult as people might think.

Most people go to their adviser for help, thinking it's the only way a change can be made. However, there is another way that is much more convenient for college students and their busy schedules, according to Mande Miller, director of the Tupelo Campus and advising.

It's as easy as opening your myTribe and changing it yourself, Miller said.

Itawamba Community College has a way for students to be able to change their major on their own by going online, Miller said. The College did this so that the students would not have to worry about making a visit to the advising centers.

If students prefer to see their adviser for a major change, they find it absolutely no problem to help. "You can change your major however much you like, but you can only do so once per semester," Miller said, "so it is best to pick a major that deals with a profession you are interested in."

If needed, students can change their adviser as well, Miller said.

Those with questions can go to the office of Student Affairs in the David C. Cole Student Services Building on the Fulton Campus or the office of Student Affairs in the Student Support Center on the Tupelo Campus.

Summit

Barry Emison, dean of career and technical instruction, conducts a tour of the Belden Center during a recent educational summit.

Promotions, changes

New personnel have joined the ICC family in leadership roles in addition to promotion of individuals who were already on the staff.

They include Tyler Camp, special assistant to the president; Jinnie Coleman, business manager at the Fulton Campus; Dr. Melissa Haab, dean of enrollment services; Jake Hartfield, coordinator of student activities; Mande Miller, director of the Tupelo Campus and advising; Bobby Solomon, registrar; and Nina Strother, director of community relations.

Camp previously was director of development and community relations specialist at ICC before working in finance with the First American National Bank.

Coleman comes to ICC from the State Auditor's office where she was a Field Audit Specialist.

Haab served as dean of enrollment management at Coastal Alabama Community College.

Miller's service at ICC since July 2002 has included counselor and director of the advising center.

Solomon previously served as campus dean for academic affairs at Savannah Technical College.

Strother joined the ICC staff in 2016 as director of graphic design and photography. - Staff Reports

10 ICC faculty, staff participate in Leadership Development Institute

Ten members of Itawamba Community College's faculty and staff have been selected to participate in its Leadership Development Institute for 2018-19.

They include Jon Armstrong of Fulton, English instructor; Billy Carson of Saltillo, lead online instructor for business administration and director for the hospitality management program; Deanna Duckworth of Mantachie, adult education and adjunct English instructor; Dr. Melissa Haab of Louisville, dean of enrollment services; Jake Hartfield of Fulton, coordinator of student activities; Ira Lindsay Kinard-Jones of Houston, mathematics instructor; Andy Kirk, head softball coach and health, physical education and recreation instructor; Dr. Cass Patrick, fine arts division chair; Nina Strother of Fulton, director of community relations; and Tzer Nan (TZ) Waters of Tupelo, lead workforce trainer.

JON ARMSTRONG

Armstrong, who has been a member of the ICC faculty since 2007, earned the associate's degree from the University of North Alabama and the master's degree from Mississippi State University. His honors include the NISOD award, 2017 ICC Humanities Teacher of the Year award and author of the textbook currently used for ICC's beginning English and reading classes. Armstrong also collaborated with professional filmmakers on a Film Club project as well as coordinated an English roundtable event. He and his wife, Ashley, are the parents of two children.

BILLY CARSON

Carson's educational background includes both the bachelor's and master's degrees from Mississippi State University. He was the recipient of ICC's meritorious award in 2018. He and his wife, Kimberly, have two children.

DEANNA DUCKWORTH

Duckworth previously served as workforce accountability/information specialist at ICC. She earned the associate's degree from Northeast Mississippi Community College and both the bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Mississippi. Duckworth's honors include ICC Adult Education Teacher of the Year for 2017-18.

DR. MELISSA HAAB

Haab, who joined the ICC staff this summer, previously served as dean of enrollment management at Coastal Alabama Community College. Her educational background includes bachelor's and master's degrees from Mississippi State University and the doctoral degree from the University of South Alabama. She and her husband, Glen, have two children.

JAKE HARTFIELD

Hartfield came to ICC this summer from the University of South Carolina where he was area coordinator with university housing. His educational background includes the associate's degree from Hinds Community College and both bachelor's and master's degrees from Mississippi State University. His honors include SEAHO New Professional of the Year, Director's award, USC and New Professional of the Year, USC, both in university housing. He and his wife, Amanda, have one child.

IRA LINDSAY KINARD-JONES

Kinard-Jones was formerly a teacher at Lafayette High School in Oxford. She joined the ICC faculty in 2008. Her educational background includes the associate's degree from ICC and both bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Mississippi. She expects to earn her doctoral degree in December from Mississippi State University. Kinard-Jones is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. Her honors include the 2018 Phi Theta Kappa Advisor award. She married Natdrick Jones in August.

ANDY KIRK

Kirk earned the bachelor's degree from Union University and the master's degree from Delta State University. His honors are 2018 Mississippi Association of Coaches and MACJC Softball Coach of the Year, 2012-13 MACJC North Division Coach of the Year and Northeast Mississippi Daily Journal Softball Coach of the Year. He is married to the former Dana Whitfield and has two children.

DR. CASS PATRICK

Before he joined the ICC

faculty, Patrick was director of classical guitar and jazz studies programs at Auburn University. He earned bachelor's (two) and master's degrees as well as the doctoral degree from the University of Mississippi. Patrick's honors include the ICC Humanities Teacher or the Year award. He and his wife, Amy, have two children.

NINA STROTHER

Strother earned the associate's degree from Copiah-Lincoln Community College and the bachelor's degree from Mississippi College. Her employment background includes director of graphic design and photography (2016-18) at ICC, communication specialist at Mississippi Organ Recovery Agency and account management and marketing at DIG Creative + Solutions. Strother's honors are adviser for the 2018 ICC yearbook that placed second among Mississippi's community colleges, two first place awards and three second place awards in the College Public Relations Association of Mississippi annual competition, the 2016 PRISM award, 2014 PRAM Best of Show and the 2014 Award of Excellence from the Southern Public Relations Foundation. She and her husband, David, have two children.

TZ WATERS

Waters previously served as workforce trainer for ICC, project engineer for Lane and quality engineering manager for La-Z-Boy. She earned both the bachelor's and master's degrees from Mississippi State University. Her honors include author/co-author of six papers for scientific journals in the area of industrial ergonomics and completion of the MDA Ambassador program. She and her husband, Mike, are the parents of three children.

Offered every other year, the Leadership Development Institute cultivates participants' personal leadership development and knowledge of both College operations as well as the College's interaction with the community.

"It is our goal that LDI participants become more effective in their existing job responsibilities as well as preparing them for future opportunities," said ICC President Jay Allen.

The LDI curriculum is guided by the American Association of Community Colleges' Competencies for Community College and the vision of the ICC President and cabinet.

LDI is a shared growth experience in which participants gain from the curriculum, but they are also expected to contribute to the program content by sharing their experiences, opinions and insights and by raising thought-provoking questions that foster group discussion.

Amy Cappleman, director of strategic planning and institutional effectiveness, is ICC's LDI coordinator.

FEA meets today

Staff Reports

Those who want to teach have an opportunity to participate in the ICC Future Educators Association.

An introductory meeting will be today (Sept. 17) at 2 p.m. in room 210 of the Academic Building at the Fulton Campus.

"This club is a great way to begin exploring the educational field," said Chris Cox, FEA sponsor.

For more information, email Cox at caco@iccms.edu.

Ready to serve

ICC alum Banko to direct Wesley Foundation

Tupelo native and Itawamba Community College alumnus Brenton Banko is the new Campus Minister at the Wesley Foundation.

Banko is a recent graduate of the University of Mississippi where he served in a leadership position at the Wesley House for two years.

While at ICC, he was part of Bro. John Foster's leadership team.

He credits his experience at ICC and with the ICC Wesley Foundation as being instrumental in growing in his faith and finding a passion for college ministry.

New Wesley director Brenton Banko and fiancée Shelby Broadway.

He will be married in November to Shelby Broadway.

PTK Upsilon Sigma chapter organizing projects, events

ALLISON CLAYTON

Staff Writer

The Upsilon Sigma chapter of Phi Theta Kappa will be busy this year organizing various projects and events, according to co-advisor Robin Lowe.

PTK is an honors organization for community college students, which gives them an opportunity to display and strengthen leadership skills and to be active on campus. Lowe said that participating in the club gives students various options to receive scholarships and awards.

Lowe said that PTK's activities so far have included participation in last week's Student Involvement Fair, which was an event to share information about engagement opportunities.

PTK is also planning for its Honors in Action project. Lowe said that last year's project focused on North Korea, and a new program will debut this fall.

Upsilon Sigma is organizing a college project, which will premiere this fall as well. Lowe noted that the group also hopes to present one in the spring.

Additional activities include attendance at the Mississippi/Louisiana regional fall conference at Pearl this month, an awards presentation in late February and travel to Orlando, Fla. next summer for the international conference.

When PTK isn't participating in its projects, the members are usually involved with ICC campus activities, Lowe said.

Meetings are the last Monday of each month at noon in Humanities 110.

For additional information, contact Lowe at (662) 862-8166 or rmlowe@iccms.edu. Information is also available on the Upsilon Sigma page on Facebook or check ICC's Student Notes each Friday for updates.

Food pantry open at Fulton

The beginning of the spring semester brought more opportunities for ICC students who need a little extra help.

A food pantry now provides not only food but also personal hygiene products for any currently enrolled ICC student.

The idea came to fruition thanks to Dr. Bronson Prochaska, who is director of academic success and retention and chair of the Learning and Life Skills division. She wanted an option for students who may not have transportation or adequate monetary means to be able to meet their needs.

Prochaska, who is also chair of the board for the Itawamba County West Food Pantry, already knew the ins and outs that came with running a similar facility.

The pantry is located in room 105 of the Crubaugh Technical Education Building, houses various items such as canned goods, microwavable products, dry food and even personal hygiene items. Proper identification is required, so a student ID is needed to check out food.

There are also plans to extend the food pantry to locations at the Belden Center and Tupelo Campus.

Currently, students

Itawamba Community College students who need a little extra help have an opportunity to take advantage of ICC's food pantry located in the Crubaugh Technical Education Building at the Fulton Campus. Also, boxes of needed items can be sent to students at the other College locations.

who require aid in either of these locations can receive a prepared box of canned items that includes information on local food pantries.

Prochaska welcomes contributions for the pantry as well as the services of students who would like to volunteer.

Funky Lady

Exhibit now on display

Works of Linda Lindale - "Fun, Frivolous, Fantasy World"

The Works of Linda Lindale of Amory, aka "The Funky Lady," will be on display through Sept. 21 at the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center Gallery at the Itawamba Community College Fulton Campus.

The show is titled "Fun, Frivolous, Fantasy World."

Lindale is a self-taught textile and fabric artist who puts her talents and vision to use creating unique clothing designs and costumes. "As a fabric artist, the ladies are my canvas, and the yarn is my paint," Lindale said. "My 'paints' are homespun yarn, specialty yarns, ribbon yarns, fun yarns and eyelash yarns. My 'paintbrushes' are my crochet hooks.

"My work is very unique," Lindale continued. "In fact, it has been described as 'offbeat, unusual and trendsetting.' It's not exactly Grandma's knitted scarf, hence the nickname, 'The Funky Lady.' My free-form creations include scarves, collars, hats, shawls, vests, kimonos and shrugs. I look for odd and unusual things, using different yarns, colors and textures. I also incorporate metals into my textiles."

Lindale said that she has been drawn into the work of fabric art on a full-time basis to share her faith and her talents, especially with young women. She volunteers with church youth groups, Girl Scouts and school-aged students. Many of her pieces have been purchased by strong, confident women, she said. "That is the type of confidence that I want to instill in the young women of today with which I share this special form of art."

A reception and gallery talk will be from 2-3 p.m., Sept. 21, in the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center.

Gallery hours are from 8 a.m.-4 p.m., Monday through Friday, except when the College is closed for holidays.

For more information, contact Shawn Whittington at (662) 862-8301 or email eswhittington@iccms.edu.

Icons of Pop

All-American Band halftime show features 'legends'

ADRIAN STAFFORD
Staff Writer

The 2018-19 ICC All-American Band's show is called 'Icons of Pop,' which includes excerpts from Lady Gaga, Justin Timberlake, Ed Sheeran, Britney Spears and Bruno Mars.

On the inspiration of the show, band director Ryan Todd said, "Our show concept was derived from several brainstorming sessions. We landed on this show because we thought it would be a crowd-pleaser, and the students would really enjoy it as well."

The band will continue to perform at all home football games and at state evaluation in Tupelo, Oct. 13, as well as the inaugural Tomahawk Marching Band Championship on

"We thought it (the show) would be a real crowd pleaser."

the Fulton Campus, Oct. 20.

The band staff includes in addition to Todd, Christy Colburn, assistant director of bands and instructor of woodwinds, color guard and Indianettes; Dr. Brian Cheesman, assistant director of bands and percussion instructor; and Eric Simmons, assistant director of bands and low brass instructor.

Todd graduated from Nettleton High School, then ICC and Ole Miss. He is currently in his third year as director of bands. Prior to that he served as assistant director of bands for six years.

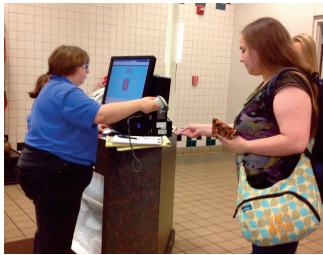

Colburn graduated from Aberdeen High School, then ICC and Ole Miss.

Cheesman is a graduate of Forrest Hill High School, Hinds Community College, Ole Miss, Wichita State University and the University of Southern Mississippi.

Simmons earned degrees from Ole Miss and Arkansas State University.

ID cards have multiple uses

OLIVIA PATTON
Staff Writer

Students at Itawamba Community College should have a blue, plastic card that has their name, student ID number and the location they are attending.

These are called Student Identification cards, or IDs, and they are issued to those attending full-time. The purpose of the card is to identify students who attend classes at Fulton, Tupelo or Belden.

According to Dr. Brad Boggs, dean of students, those who attend ICC are required to wear their identification cards for checking into housing if they are living in the dormitories or taking advantage of cafeteria or bookstore services and receiving free admission to sporting events.

Although students are required to wear their identification card, they can also log in on the mobile app and show their card if they forget their physical copy, Boggs said.

If the card is lost, it can be replaced for a fee of $20 in the Student Affairs office located in the David C. Cole Student Services Building in Fulton and the Student Support Center in Tupelo.

Resident students must have their card activated in the Housing office, also located in the David C. Cole Student Services Building in Fulton.

Boggs said that resident and commuter students have two separate types of cards. Resident students use their cards for hall entry, food services and the bookstore.

ID cards enhance the ICC experience for teachers, employees and students, Boggs said, and everyone is reminded to always have access to their cards.

Tales of Terror: Spooky Halloween event scheduled

ASHLEY DANIELS
Staff Writer

A spooky Halloween event will take place, Oct. 29., at the Crane Pavilion at the Fulton Campus, according to Dr. Laurie McBride, theatre instructor.

At 7:30 p.m., Tales of Terror will provide an opportunity for everyone to share appropriate unnerving stories or poems.

All students are encouraged to participate in this event.

Hot chocolate and other refreshments will be served.

For more information, contact McBride in Academic 108 at the Fulton Campus.

Safety first is top priority for Itawamba

Police available to assist

ICC's Campus Police officers are available 24/7 at the Fulton Campus to provide assistance in case of both major and minor emergencies.

Officers are also on duty at both the Tupelo Campus and the Belden Center, although not round-the-clock.

The full-time officers are certified by the state of Mississippi and are sworn police officers, according to Ricky Brasel, chief of Campus Police.

The primary objective of the department is to provide a safe and healthy environment that enhances the campus learning experience and complements the College's educational mission, Brasel said.

Not only is the department responsible for law enforcement, security and emergency response, but it is also responsible for providing support services tailored to meet the needs of the college community including, but not limited to, vehicle registration, vehicle assistance, lost and found, surveys of lighting and potential hazards, operation identification, property registration file for resident students and Emergency Medical Response.

The phone numbers are Fulton, (662) 862-8300; Tupelo, (662) 620-5300 and Belden, (662) 407-1570.

All of ICC's buildings and rooms have custom-designed Emergency Procedures posters to ensure maximum safety for faculty, staff and the community.

ICC policies address gender-based misconduct

Passage of the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act by the U.S. Congress has led to a renewed effort by colleges and universities across the nation to respond to the needs of the campus community regarding such gender-based misconduct as domestic violence, dating violence and stalking.

In order to encourage reporting and response to these crimes, which has been mandated by the Clery Act and now an obligation under the Campus Sexual Violence Elimination (SaVE) Act, colleges and universities are now required to adopt discipline procedures and prevention strategies, according to Dr. Brad Boggs, dean of students and Title IX coordinator.

"Itawamba Community College will not tolerate this gender-based misconduct," Boggs said. "These could be criminal offenses and, if so, are subject to criminal charges in Mississippi as well as institutional disciplinary sanctions."

Boggs said the policy specifies that any form of gender-based misconduct that is against another's will or that substantially interferes with another's academic efforts, employment or participation in college-sponsored programs or activities is a violation of accepted standards of behavior.

"Itawamba Community College will not tolerate gender-based misconduct."

However, reporting is not the sole responsibility of law enforcement personnel. "Every employee of Itawamba Community College is considered a Responsible Employee," Boggs said. "It is their obligation to report any crime reported to them to Campus Police, the Title IX coordinator or director of Student Affairs, as soon as possible."

Boggs said that behaviors warranting criminal charges will be handled according to applicable state law.

The SaVE Act is expected to create transparency, accountability, education and collaboration.

For more information, contact Boggs at (662) 862-8271; Ricky Brasel, chief of Campus Police, (662) 862-8020 or Mande Miller, director of the Tupelo Campus and Advising, (662) 620-5015.

Mass notification system provides alerts

ICC provides a mass notification system called ICC ALERT.

Students, faculty and staff are urged to participate in the free service, according to Dr. Brad Boggs, Dean of Students.

"The system enables the College to inform students, faculty and staff of any emergencies or imminent danger situations," Boggs said. "The system is secure and will be used for emergency situations and periodic testing."

ICC ALERT has been utilized for inclement weather situations when classes and offices were closed due to snow and icing conditions and when storms threatened the area, Collins said.

To sign up to receive emergency messages through ICC ALERT:

1. Log on to the myTribe portal using your name and password.
2. Click ICC ALERT System in the link section on the bottom right.
3. Log in with your same username and password as myTribe to add/update your information.

National Day on Writing submission deadline - Oct. 11

SAMANTHA LANGSTON

Staff Writer

Entries in writing and art are being accepted for ICC's National Day on Writing, which is scheduled for Oct. 23 at the Fulton Campus.

In celebration of the National Day on Writing, the Communications Division invites high school students and ICC students, faculty and staff to submit samples of their writing, art and music for display at the ICC Fulton Campus.

Submission deadline is Oct. 11 at 4:30 p.m.

Students, faculty and staff will have the opportunity to attend a college reception and view the submissions from 12:30-2 p.m., Oct. 23, in the Fulton

Campus Learning Resource Center.

The National Day on Writing celebrates the importance of writing in everyday life, according to coordinator Anna Britt-Begnaud. Categories include essays, poetry, short stories, music and artwork (drawing, painting and sculpture) and music. High school students can submit essays, poetry, short stories and artwork (drawing and painting).

Students, parents and teachers can view high school students' works during a reception at 6 p.m. that day. The awards ceremony begins at 6:30 p.m. in the LRC.

All submissions must be complete and include the information sheet as well as follow the formatting and display guideline for submission. All entries must be appropriate and in good taste.

All work must be picked up by Nov. 8.

Submissions should be sent to the following:

Art - Dana Arnold, Visual Arts 118, (662) 862-8304, dlarnold@iccms.edu;
Music - Dr. Cass Patrick, Fine Arts 112, (662) 862-8313, repatrick@iccms.edu;

Writing - Morgan Cutturi, Humanities 116, (662) 862-8167, mscutturi@iccms.edu.

For general questions, contact Anna Begnaud, (662) 862-8292, Humanities120@iccms.edu.

Calliope now accepting entries

Staff Reports

The Calliope, a publication of poetry and artwork, is now accepting submissions of original poems by ICC students.

Students may submit up to five poems that have not been published or submitted elsewhere.

Students should email the poems to Keith Morris at jk-morris@iccms.edu by Nov. 9.

A committee of faculty and students will choose the top 10 poems from the group.

Then, art students will create drawings inspired by those poems.

The publication will be distributed in early May 2019.

For more information, contact Morris either by email or at (662) 862-8055.

Science faculty participate in UAB Gate program

Staff Reports

Three members of Itawamba Community College's Natural Science Division faculty participated in the University of Alabama at Birmingham GATE program recently.

They included Beth Campbell of Fulton, Michelle Milner of Saltville and Lindsey Patterson of Amory.

Campbell earned both the bachelor's and master's degrees from Mississippi State University and has completed additional coursework. She has served as biology instructor at ICC since 1999, and her previous employment included graduate assistant and research assistant staff at MSU, substitute teacher and private biology tutor. She is a member of the National Science Teachers Association and holds certifications from the Globe Program and Project Learning Tree. She has an extensive list of awards, including ICC's Meritorious Achievement, National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development (NISOD) and Lamplighter Award. She is a member of Trinity Baptist Church, where she teaches the College and Career Sunday School class, Kid's Time and Vacation Bible School and serves as a nursery volunteer. She and her husband, Jason, who is also on the ICC faculty and sponsor for the Bass Fishing team, have one son, Hayden, a sophomore at IAHS.

Campbell

Milner is a native of McCarley. She received her education at Marshall Elementary and J.Z. George Middle/High School in Carroll County. Her educational background also includes Mississippi Valley State University, the bachelor's degree from Delta State University and the master's degree from the University of Mississippi. She is currently enrolled in the doctoral program in Urban Higher Education and Policy Development at Jackson State University.

Milner

Prior to joining the ICC faculty, Milner taught middle and high school in Carroll County, Shelby County, Tenn. and the Oxford City school district. Among the subjects were environmental science, biology, chemistry, principles of biology and human anatomy and physiology. She has two sons, Micah James and Micah Jabarie.

Patterson is beginning her third year at ICC, where she teaches anatomy and physiology I and II. She earned the associate's degree from ICC, bachelor's degree from the University of Mississippi and the master's degree from the University of West Alabama. She is a member of the children's committee at the Amory First United Methodist Church. She and her husband, Linzy, who is an adult education instructor at ICC, are the parents of Collins, 6, and Harper, 3.

The Gross Anatomy of the Thorax and Abdomen course, which was designed for collegiate anatomy educators, included lectures and complete dissection of the thorax and abdomen as well as emphasis on educational strategies.

ICC offers free shuttle service

Staff Reports

Itawamba Community College will continue the free shuttle service between the Fulton and Tupelo campuses this fall.

Shuttle service begins and ends at the Fulton Campus with stops in front of the Student Services Buildings at both campuses and the Health Science Education Center at the Tupelo Campus.

The shuttle provides a vital service and transports approximately 20-25 students daily between campuses.

Students must present a valid student ID card to ride the shuttle.

A shuttle schedule is available on ICC's website, www.iccms.edu.

Students: Assistance, please!

Staff Reports

ICC's administration needs the assistance of all students in reviewing instruction and supportive services.

Students may provide their opinions through the fall semester's Student Evaluation, according to Diann Nichols, assessment coordinator in the office of strategic planning and institutional effectiveness. Each student will receive these surveys throughout the semester based on term dates. Students will receive an email survey for each class (traditional and online) in which they are enrolled. SEIs will also populate inside each course in Canvas so that students may choose to take the SEI via the email invitation or Canvas link based on personal preference for each class.

All student survey responses remain anonymous, and instructors do not receive the SEI results until after submitting final grades at the end of each semester. ICC's administration may review all comments made in the SEIs.

Student services surveys for admissions, financial aid, student activities and student housing will be sent with a separate link for each survey to student email addresses and be available at staggered times this semester.

Because student opinions are very important to improving the services and instruction that ICC provides, the administration encourages each student to complete all surveys, Nichols said.

Students will receive the student services surveys through their ICC email address.

The Fall Semester Begins... Welcome to ICC and Student Involvement

A Travel Club-sponsored tailgate and glow run... Welcome Week activities... and the annual Baptist Student Union water party were among the first activities of the fall semester.

Spotlight on honors

Tucker, Vaughn participate in 2018-19 MCCLA

Staff Reports

Dr. Emily Tucker of Guntown, adviser, and Tonya Vaughn of Mantachie, director of the Surgical Technology program, are representing ICC as participants in the 2018-19 Mississippi Community College Leadership Academy.

A graduate of Shannon High School, Tucker earned the bachelor's, master's and doctorate degrees from the University of Mississippi. An employee of ICC since 2010, she previously served as an admissions counselor for Ole Miss-Tupelo. Tucker is active in the Tupelo graduate chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. and is involved at White Hill M.B. Church in Tupelo. At ICC, she is also sponsor for the Indian Delegation, student recruiting team, and a graduate of the Leadership Development Institute.

Emily Tucker

Vaughn, who is beginning her 21st year at ICC, also works as a PRN for the cardiovascular surgical team at the North Mississippi Medical Center. Her educational background includes the associate's degree from ICC, bachelor's degree from the University of North Alabama and the master's degree from WGU. Currently, she serves on the strategic planning, general education competency and faculty handbook committees at ICC. Vaughn's honors include recipient of the meritorious achievement award at ICC. In addition, the Surgical Technology program has been recognized nationally for the achievement of a 100 percent pass rate on the National Certification exam. She is married to Richard Vaughn and has two sons, David (Darby) Knight and Wilson Knight, and one grandson, Tripp Knight.

The MCCLA is organized around the practical needs for future community college leaders, specific to the Mississippi community college system. Much of the material presented and discussed in the Leadership Academy is relative to the operation of the state's community colleges.

Tonya Vaughn

Athletic Aides

Itawamba Community College athletic training student aides for 2018-19 include from left, Zach Turba of Saltito; Cameron Latham, Tatyanna Austin, both of Starkville; and Dawson Crawford of Tupelo. They assist athletic trainer Nikki Monk with duties during practice, games and in the training room, including, but not limited to, wrapping and taping ankles and wrists, and providing ice bags after games and practices.

Moving in

ICC students, parents and friends arrived on move-in day with all of the necessities for their dorm rooms. ICC administrators including President Dr. Jay Allen, center photo, were on hand to assist.

Pom Squad auditions set for Oct. 26

Staff Reports

Pom squad auditions are scheduled for 3:30 p.m., Oct. 26, in the band hall at the Fulton Campus.

A routine, which will be taught on the day of auditions, will be used to select members of the line. Those who audition do not have to be current members of the band or danceline.

The ICC Pom Squad performs at all home basketball games and specializes in the hip hop genre of dance.

Indians rally in season opener; fall in heartbreaker to East Central

ADAM GORE

Staff Reports

Itawamba Community College's football season began with a season-opening upset win over Pearl River and a home loss to the East Central Warriors.

PEARL RIVER

After a 45-minute lightning delay before the game, the No. 16 Indians erased a 20-point deficit in Poplarville to storm back for a 34-30 win at Pearl River, Aug. 30.

De'Sean Dinkins led the rally with 103 yards rushing and a pair of touchdowns on 13 carries, including the game-winning score on a four-yard run with 3:24 left in the game. The sophomore running back sealed the victory by picking up a first down with less than a minute remaining, allowing the Indians to kneel their way to the come-from-behind victory.

With the Indians trailing 27-7 midway through the third quarter, Hiram Wadlington scored on a two-yard run and 45-yard pass from Spencer Unruh to make it a 27-21 contest at the 2:56 mark of the third quarter.

Wadlington rushed for 76 yards and a touchdown on 13 carries and caught three passes for a team-high 84 yards and another score in his collegiate debut. Unruh completed 10 of 24 passing for 146 yards with a touchdown and an interception.

Jaquan Williams picked off a pass that led to a 32-yard touchdown run by Dinkins that tied the game at 27 after a blocked extra point attempt with 13:51 left in the fourth quarter. Both teams traded fumbles before Pearl River bounced a 29-yard field goal off the right upright and through to take a three-point advantage at the 9:52 mark.

Laderrick Bell scored the game's first touchdown on a 7-yard run on the Indians' second drive of the night.

For two straight weeks, Tay Carothers led the Indians with 14 tackles in games against Pearl River and East Central.

Defensively, the Indians were led by Tay Carothers' 14 tackles (12 solo, two assists), including a game-saving fourth down stop on the Wildcats' final drive of the game. Carothers had four tackles for a loss of 14 yards, a sack for a loss of eight yards and a fumble recovery.

Nick Smith had an interception and LaKendrick Jones added a forced fumble.

EAST CENTRAL

A pair of blocked punts and untimely fourth quarter penalties proved to be too much for the No. 14 Indians to overcome in a 34-28 loss to East Central, Sept. 6.

East Central recovered a blocked punt in the end-zone to take a 7-0 lead before a second blocked punt on the Indians' next drive quickly put the Warriors up 14-0 at the 10:37 mark of the first quarter.

The Indians got on the scoreboard on a 37-yard pass to Kevarius Brown from Spencer Unruh to make it a 14-7 contest after Caleb Comer added the extra point.

Unruh completed 13 of 29 passing for 132 yards with a touchdown and interception. Brown had 62 yards and a touchdown on four catches.

For the second straight week, the Indians went into halftime down 27-7 after Mario Asagunia threw his second touchdown pass of the game for the only score in the second quarter.

De'Sean Dinkins scored on a 17-yard run before Jamel Thomas caught a 14-yard scoring toss from Clark Mills to make it a 27-21 contest in favor of the Warriors with 1:29 left in the third quarter.

Mills was 10 of 19 passing for 118 yards and a touchdown and rushed for six yards on three carries. Thomas had eight catches for 83 yards and a touchdown. Dinkins rushed for 27 yards and a score on eight carries and caught a pass for seven yards.

After bumping into the punt returner on a fair catch and a facemask penalty on the following play, the Indians helped move the Warriors to the 33-yard line. Asagunia threw his fourth touchdown pass of the game to take a 34-21 advantage.

Hiram Wadlington scored on a four-yard run to make it a 34-28 game with 9:11 left in the final frame. The Indians' defense forced a missed field goal, and the offense promptly marched down to the 10-yard line before missing on a fourth down pass attempt, allowing East Central to escape Fulton with the victory.

Wadlington rushed for 90 yards and a score on 10 carries and hauled in a pair of catches for 10 yards.

For the second straight week, Tay Carothers led the Indians with 14 tackles (11 solo, three assists) with a half sack and two-and-a-half tackles for loss. Dalton Combs had an interception.
